

Filming and Photography Guidelines and License Application

Thank you for your interest in doing a film or photography shoot at Pike Place Market. Filming or photography in the Market must be pre-approved and licensed for anything other than personal use. The Pike Place Market is a working market, which means that to the greatest extent possible, filming must not interfere with Market business, pedestrian or vehicle traffic, or the public's enjoyment of the Market. The Pike Place Market is managed by the Pike Place Market Preservation and Development Authority (PDA), who is the final authority on all film projects within the Market.

Deadline for Application

Applications are currently being accepted for June 6 or later; note that filming during busy summer months is only considered for non-peak hours on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Requests to film or shoot photography at the Market must be made a minimum of 10 business days prior to the proposed film date. Larger and more complicated productions require a longer lead time. Filming is not permitted on Fridays, weekends, or holiday weeks due to crowded conditions and the impact on Market businesses.

Filming Fees

Location Fees & Admin Fee:

Location fees vary based on the size, scope, and impact of your production and the length of time you would like to shoot in the Market, as well as the use of the content. An administrative fee is charged for the coordination of your filming. Fees must be paid in advance and are non-refundable.

Security Costs:

All filming/photography projects require the supervision of at least one PDA security officer. Licensee pays $40/hour per officer for the duration of the project with a minimum two hour charge.

Proof of Insurance

If you are granted permission to film at the Market, the Pike Place Market PDA must be named as an additional insured on your insurance. The filming agreement details insurance coverage requirements.

Trademarks

The names Pike Place Market, Pike Place Public Market, Pike Place Farmers Market, Pike Place, and any graphic representations of the Market's neon sign and clock are registered trademarks. Use of these marks and other iconic imagery and signage in your project may require additional fees and a separate trademark licensing agreement.

Merchants within the Market

If filming or taking photographs of individual tenant shops or stalls, separate agreements must be negotiated with each affected business.

Rates, fee, and other conditions are subject to change. Contact Justin Huguet at (206) 774-5225 or justin.huguet@pikeplacemarket.org. Filming fees cannot be quoted without an application.
